Pick up this month's 6th Anniversary Issue of Don Diva Magazine. The 135th Street Agency is featured in it. Read below for an excerpt of the introduction...

Sisters doing it for themselves has become a way of life for many women – especially minority women. With over 2 million people in jail- most of which are our minority men, we've learned to take care of ourselves and our families and many of us have found ways to create industries and jobs for others.

Women own more than 30% of the 21 million businesses in the country. Their earnings are rising twice as fast as the rate of all other companies. Women are no longer pigeon-holed to certain economic industries like childcare, beauty products, hair care or healthcare. Female entrepreneurs are making names for themselves in most industries that were previously occupied only by men. Even more impressive, many Black women are pioneering new industries for themselves...
